Luxbanx Speed Ring for Lowel Tota-light INSTRUCTIONS

Introduction

Thank you for choosing Impact.

The dedicated Impact SR-TOT Luxbanx Speed Ring allows filmmakers, videographers, and photographers to mount a Luxbanx softbox to a Lowel Tota-light quickly and easily.

The construction of this speed ring includes a customized armature for exact positioning of the light and a stud for directly mounting the Tota-light to the speed ring, so that the weight of the softbox is supported by the speed ring, not the light. This will extend the life of the light by preventing damage from the weight of a softbox. The stand adapter shifts the center of gravity so that the weight is centered over the light stand for greater stability.

The Luxbanx SR-TOT has all-metal construction for years of reliable performance. The mounting ring is made of solid milled aircraft-grade aluminum with precision machined rod holes for smooth assembly. The Luxbanx SR-TOT Speed Ring is compatible with most major brands of heat-resistant rectangular, square, and strip softboxes.

Overview

To use the SR-TOT, mount the Tota-light to the standard 5/8″ stud on the armature of the speed ring. Be sure to mount the softbox to the speed ring so that the light will be inside the softbox.

Some softboxes feature a design which may not allow the back flaps of the softbox to close completely when mounted to this speed ring. This should not affect the lighting results.

For assembling the softbox, see the manufacturer's instructions.
